

Vegas Gets A New Eating Challenge

This tower of juicy sliders, oozing with cheese, is The Strip's newest dare. An eating challenge that seems innocuous enough. After all, sliders are mini, right? We mean, who hasn't gobbled up a couple of White Castle's straight? A few more shouldn't be a problem as long as stretchy pants and fasting are part of the pre-game, eh?

And, then you learn there are 24 of them. The time you have to devour them? The same numerical value. 24 sliders. 24 minutes. That's when you cue up the only inspirational song that matters and head to Citizens Kitchen at Mandalay Bay to claim your victory as well as your free meal. Fail to complete the challenge and you'll need to hand over $40 while trying to hold back the ~~vom~~ tears. But, you got this. Right? That's what we thought.