

Citizens To Bring 'Real Food' To 'Real People' By Month's End

The Light Group isn't dishing yet on the exact opening date for Citizens Kitchen at Mandalay Bay, a 24-hour "casual American bistro." But, it will say they're on target for an opening sometime during the last week of this month. Nor, is it revealing the full menu (aside from crab cakes, fried chicken and meatloaf). But, from new ads, it looks like the eatery, and its cuisine, won't just target club kids. Nor, encourage the use of silverware.

Marketing ads show a biker daintily eating a salad, an everyman going to town on some spaghetti and an everywoman enjoying a pastrami and sauerkraut sammy (we think). All have cocktails and none have forks. But, at least we know that napkins will be available.

If your appetite has been whet, more ads can be found on Yelp's Citizens page and imply that wings, monster burgers and waffle fries also will be found. We'll let you know when Citizens will start serving up its finger-lickin' fare as soon as we hear it. The restaurant replaces Red, White and Blue at Mandalay Bay.
